OUR WATER SUPPLY.

The Effect of Polluted Water as Described by Experts-Filtration as a Remedy.

The epidemic at Plymouth, Pa., caused y the use of polluted water, and in which by the use of political water, and in water several hundred people lost their lives, was the direct and immediate cause of the es-tablishment of the Penusylvania State Board of Health, which has been holding its first annual convention in Philadelphia. In consequence, it was but natural to ex-In consequence it was but natural to ex-pect that at this convention particular at-tention should be paid to the subject of water supply, and this we find to have been the case. All through the proceedings there was exhibited a marked interest in the subject, and the desirability of an ab-solutely pure and wholesome water supply was recomized.

solitely pure and wholesome water supply was recognized.

Dr. Formad, of Philadelphia, read a paper on the tests for impurities in water, in which he took the ground that the best method of testing the probable wholesome-ness of a water was by the determination of the number of bacterial life germs found n a certain defined amount.

Dr. Charles Smith, U. S. A., of this city,

Dr. Charles Smith, U. S. A., of this city, read an elaborate paper on the water supply of cities and towns, in which he traced the relations between typhoid and malarial fevers and impure water supplies. His paper was bristling with statistics and with examples of facts gathered from all over the world—showing how these diseases disappear before an improvement in the water used.

Sed. Dr. Smart believes that water contaminated with typhoid fever germs can never be rendered absolutely safe, while the germs of malaria can be entirely removed from of malaria can be entirely removed from water by proper treatment.

This is comforting to the people of Wash-ington, whose water supply is free from typhoid germs, but undoubtedly is a direct cause of a large part of the prevalent cause of a large part of the prevalent malaris.

A very interesting discussion took place on the subject of the water supply of Philadelphia, participated in by Dr. Morris, Dr. Dulles, Col. Ludlow, and others. The doctors seemed desirous of showing that the supply was sufficiently good; that its impure condition was greatly exaggerated, &c., while Col. Ludlow charged it with many evils and said that ultimately Philadelphia must go far away to the Blue mountains fortis supply.

Mr. Charles H. Wingate, of New York, read an interesting paper on the "Necessity and Desirability of Filtration of the Water Supplies of Cities." His condemnation of domestic filtration was very sweeping and general. Filtration to be really efficient must be accomplished on the large scale by proporty instructed officials. Mr. Wingate believed in the absolute necessity of filtration. He cited many examples to show its entire practical dility.

Many other subjects were discussed at this meeting, principal among them being the care and feeding of infants, drainage and sewerages, heating and ventilating, prevention of disease, &c.

He spoke in support of his amendment, maintaining that a tunnel and not a bridge was the most feasible and proper thing for railway transition the place indicated. He said he would vot against the bill unless properly amended. In doing so he would be obeying the lustruction of his state, whose beliess he respected. The bill ought to be called "a bill to destroy waterways in the interest of railways." He did not oppose the bill on account of its favoring any particular rail road, but because it would injure the facilities for commerce which had been afforded by the waters of New Jersey. Referring to the constitutional point involved, Mr. McPhorson said many able lawyers doubted the power of Congress in the insuter. He samitted that of last the tendency of the decisions of the supposite court had been to cularge the scope of Congress and restrict the authority of the states even in matters over which the states claime ven in matters over which the states claime and had gone in towards denying to the state be control of their municipal ablairs. Mr. McPherson's remarks had not been conclude when the morning hour expired, and the bil was laid aside until to-day.

The President Not the Parchaser. The President Not the Parchaser.

Col. Ismont said to a reporter for the Rerunacan last evening that the President had not made overtures for the purchase of a country place. The President had made no such purchase. The only foundation for the report was the fact that Mal. Armes, a real estate agest, had offered certain property for sale to the President without solicitation.

Maj. Armes was seen at the Exbitt House by the reporter. He stated that until recently he had been the agent for the sale of the Green estate, at the corner of Woodley lane and Tennallytwen road. Lately Mr. Green had told him he had a purchaser whose usuas he could not mention who had paid $200 down to bind the bargain. He believed the real purchaser would be found to be the President.

THE MARKETS.

Prices Shading Off in the Last Hour, But a Firm Tone Prevails. NEW YORK, May 19 .- The features of day's market were the dealings in Consolidated Gas, Western Union, and Louisstock there is reported to be a syndicate ville and Nashville. In the first named stock there is reported to be a syndicate which proposes to test the constitutionality of the law lately passed. They also stand ready to buy the stock when it has reached a certain point. This point, it is believed, was touched to-day, and the buying after that time is supposed to be for the account of the syndicate, and caused the rally from 70½ to 82. Western Union was heavy throughout the morning, the cause of which was rumored to be the decision in the Goodsellauit. There was considerable talk affoot in regard to Louisville and Nashville, but the stock was remarkably steady all day and closed with a small advance.

There were no new developments in regard to Oregon Transcontinental, yet the stock declined 1 per cent., and closed near the lowest of the day. There was some heaviness apparent in the early trading, and declines of small fractions were made before 11 a. m., the lowest prices of the day being made generally in the first hour. The market then continued dull and featureless, although a firm tone prevailed until near the close. Prices ahaded off a fraction in the last hour, and the market closed rather heavy close to last night's final figures. The net result of the day's operations is an equal division between small gains and equally small besses. The total transactions of the day amounted to 141,302 shares.

Wake Spra the Population. Make Sure the Foundation.

Not long ago it became necessary to examine the foundation of Washington monument and strengthen it to support the additional weight caused by its completion. So, in the human body, if we would rear a perfect superstructure of health we must lay the foundation in a best condition of the nerves, imuseles, and blood. Dr. Henley's Colory, Beef, and iron is exactly adapted to this end. Use that, and it will be a long time before you will have any kind of a menument placed over you.
